

PRIVACY POLICY

The privacy of your Personal Information is important to Allan Stone Projects. The Company collects, stores and processes your Personal Information in order to provide goods and services to you. Allan Stone Galleries, Inc. (d/b/a Allan Stone Projects) and Stone Art LLC, collectively ("we", "our") or ("the company") have established and implemented this Privacy Policy to inform you of the Information we collect from you, how we collect and use your Information, with whom and for what purposes we may share your Information and the choices you can make about our use of your Information. The phrase "Personal Information" in this Privacy Policy means contact Information (e.g., name, address, email address, mailing address, telephone number) and any other information that personally identifies an individual.

Security of your Personal Information:

Any Personal Information you provide to the Company is kept on secure servers. Allan Stone Projects uses reasonable administrative, technical, personnel, and physical measures (a) to safeguard Information against loss, theft, unauthorized use, disclosure, or modification; and (b) to ensure the integrity of the Information.

Allan Stone Projects does not sell or trade your personal data to unaffiliated third parties. However, The Company may disclose your Information to unaffiliated third parties if we believe in good faith that such disclosure is necessary to comply with the law or in response to a subpoena, court order, government request, or other legal process.

What Information we collect:

- contact information (first name, last name, phone number, e-mail address)
- shipping address for those clients who have made a purchase
- IP address and browser type

Personal Information may be collected when you:

- purchase artwork
- give us your contact and other information during a visit to the gallery or an art fair booth
- sign up for our email list via our website
- make inquiries in person or via telephone or email

Your Personal Information may be used to:

- respond to your inquiries
- keep you informed about the gallery, available artworks, and our events
- complete transactions you have initiated, such as the purchase of artwork or exhibition catalogs

How You May Manage Your Personal Information:

- You may request details of the Personal Information we store of yours, as well as other non-personal data we may have, such as your browser language or IP address. If you would like to make this request, contact us at <mailto:info@allanstoneprojects.com>
- You may opt-out of our marketing communications at any time.
- You may decline to provide any Personal Information to the Company. You are under no obligation to provide Personal Information to us. However, if you decide not to provide such information, then you may not be able to obtain the goods or services offered by the Company.

Links

There may be links on our websites that send you to other websites. Our privacy policy only applies to the web pages on our web site; once you leave our website, our privacy policy no longer applies, even if you leave our website due to a link that we provided. If you use a link on our website to visit another website, we recommend you read the privacy policy of that website to ensure they are appropriately protecting your data.

Cookies

Our website does not collect data via Cookies. Cookies are small files or parts of a file stored that may be placed on your computer to enhance your experience when visiting a website. Cookies may contain personal information such as a user identification code, customized preferences, or a record of pages visited. Cookies help identify what pages on a website you are using, allowing analysis of user experiences and thereby improving the usability of a website. However, you are free to decline the use of cookies when visiting a website by changing the settings of your web browser.

Changes to this Privacy Policy

The Company reserves the right to change this privacy policy at any time by posting revisions on this Web page. Such changes will be effective upon posting.